Builders, Cars24

Yeh cheezein jo culture mein dikhti hain — customer love, problem ownership, truth over comfort, intolerance ki limits, aur better human banna — yeh sirf posters nahi hain. Yeh woh hai jo hum actually hain.

Better drives,

better lives

Hum ek sports team hain.

Cars24 ke saamne jo opportunity hai, woh is category mein pehle kabhi nahi aayi. Ise build karne wale hum hain. Hum 100x ke liye khel rahe hain — aur wahan pahunchenge by doing what no one else is doing, every single day, with urgency. Values ko violate karke wahan nahi pahunchenge. Values constraint hain, lever nahi. Bench meritocratic hai, locker room compassionate hai — aur past ke kaam se kal ki seat nahi milti.

Customer love

We exist for the people whose lives a car runs through. The car owner buying their first one or selling their third, the dealer running a business on our auctions, the borrower whose loan we underwrite.

A car is not just a product. It sits in their biography. Seen and understood is the bar. Anything less is a failure of love.

The test: Would you be comfortable if it were your own family sitting across that desk?

Better drives, better lives

Customer Love

Hum unke liye exist karte hain jinki zindagi mein car ka role hai. Woh pehli car khareedne wala, teesri bechne wala, auction pe business chalane wala dealer, ya loan lene wala borrower.

Car sirf ek product nahi hai. Yeh unki life ka hissa hai. Bar yeh hai ki customer feel kare — seen aur understood. Isse kam kuch bhi love ka failure hai.

Test yeh hai: Kya aap comfortable hote agar us desk ke doosri taraf aapka apna family hota?

Own the problem

There is one role at Cars24, and that role is Builder. Being a Builder today means being AI-first and engineering-first. Builders don't wait to be told what to solve. They figure out the biggest problem and own it.

They don't wait for permission because nobody is coming to give it. They grow by solving harder problems, and then harder ones after that.

Builders fail often, because nothing worth building comes without it. Not trying is the only failure that counts. We want people who can fail in public, wear the scar, and try again. You don't have to be a founder to think like one. You just have to choose to.

The test: If the biggest problem you are working on doesn't give you some butterflies, it isn't big enough.

Hamare Values

Truth over comfort

We say the hard thing in the room, even when it disappoints. We receive the hard thing the same way, even when it stings. We don't nod in the meeting and disagree over DM after, and we deliver bad news up the chain, not sideways. We think in first principles, holding hypotheses rather than certainties, even when those hypotheses are unpopular because comfort is where truth goes to die.

Sometimes we change our minds. Sometimes we hold the ground, even when people laugh, disagree, and make us doubt ourselves. Being right early always looks like being wrong.

The test: If it didn't hurt, you didn't take a hard call. If you walked out of a meeting and DMed someone what you really thought, the meeting failed and you failed it.

Problem Ka Malik Ban

Cars24 mein sirf ek role hai — aur woh hai Builder. Aaj ke time mein Builder hone ka matlab hai AI-first aur engineering-first sochna. Builders ko koi batane nahi aata ke kya solve karna hai — woh khud dhundhte hain sabse bada problem, aur usse apna lete hain.

Permission ka intezaar nahi karte, kyunki dene wala koi aa nahi raha. Woh bade problems solve karke badte hain, phir usse bhi bade problems, aur phir usse bhi bade.

Builders baar baar fail hote hain — kyunki jo cheez banane layak hai, woh bina fail hue milti nahi. Sirf ek failure count hoti hai — koshish na karna. Hum chahte hain log jo sab ke saamne fail ho sakein, woh dard apne upar le sakein, aur phir دوبارا uthke try kar sakein. Founder hone ki zaroorat nahi — bas founder ki tarah sochne ka choice karo.

Test: Agar jo sabse bada problem tum abhi solve kar rahe ho, uspe thodi si nervous feeling nahi aa rahi — toh woh kaafi bada nahi hai.

What you tolerate becomes culture

Low standards are the plague. We have tolerated slow. We have tolerated sloppy. We have tolerated the kind of politeness that protects feelings instead of the work. All of it has cost us.

Every behaviour we tolerate becomes the policy we never wrote. We benchmark to the best, not better, because better is the trap that keeps companies stuck. Attention to detail is the standard we have most often let slip. That ends now. I am the first one accountable for what we have tolerated, and I am the first one accountable for raising the bar from here.

The test: Would you still make the same decision if every trade-off, conversation, and action were visible for everyone?

Comfort Se Zyada, Sach

Hum woh baat kehte hain jo mushkil hai — room mein, seedha, chahe saamne wale ko buraa lage. Aur jab hum par woh mushkil baat aati hai, hum usi tarah sunte hain — chahe dard ho. Meeting mein haan karna aur baad mein DM pe alag raay rakhna — yeh nahi chalta. Buri khabar seedhi upar jaati hai, sideways nahi.

Hum first principles pe sochte hain — certainties nahi rakhte, hypotheses rakhte hain — chahe woh unpopular kyun na ho. Kyunki comfort wahi jagah hai jahan sach jaake mar jaata hai.

Kabhi kabhi hum apna opinion badal lete hain. Kabhi kabhi hum apni baat pe dadte rehte hain — chahe log hanse, disagree karein, hume khud doubt ho. Sach bolna hamesha galat lagta hai — pehle pehle.

Test: Agar koi decision lena hurt nahi kiya, toh shayad woh decision liya hi nahi. Aur agar meeting ke baad tumne kisi ko DM kiya jo tum meeting mein kehna chahte the — toh meeting fail hui, aur tum us failure ka hissa the.

Become a better human

How we behave when it is hardest is who we actually are. The hardest moments are not the dramatic ones; they are the ones where we could quietly choose less. Less care for a customer who won't notice. Less honesty when a softer answer would be easier. Less effort for someone on their way out.

Crashfree India, the Compassion Fund, and how we let people go all come from refusing to choose less. We are not trying to be a virtuous company. We are trying to become better humans through work.

The test: Think of a recent moment when you could have quietly chosen less. Did you?

Summary

Ye paanch values alag-alag cheezein nahi hain.

Ye ek hi cheez hai, paanch tarike se kahi gayi.

Yahi Cars24 hai.

01 Customer se pyaar karo

Seen and understood — yahi benchmark hai.

02 Problem apni le lo

Koi permission dene nahi aayega.

03 Comfort se zyada truth

Comfort wahi jagah hai jahan truth dafan hota hai.

04 Jo tum tolerate karte ho, woh culture ban jaata hai

Hum best se compare karte hain, "thoda better" se nahi.

05 Better human bano

Quietly less choose karna — refuse karo.

05 Better humans

"In this universe, we need more ____"

Builder Ki Taraf Se

Main bhi commit kar raha hoon

Main tumse woh standards nahi maang sakta jo main khud pe nahi lagaata.

Isliye main apne bhi openly bol raha hoon.

Cars24 ka uthna aur girna — dono meri zimmedari hai. Jeetna team ka hota hai. Chookna mera. Jo bhi ho, haalaat chahe kuch bhi hon, mujhe hi rasta nikaalana hai. Jo hum tolerate karte hain woh hamari culture banti hai — aur jo bhi hua, main ne tolerate kiya. Jab do saal pehle humne reset kiya aur utna aage nahi gaye jitna chahiye tha — main bhi utna aage nahi gaya.

Mujhe wohi Builder standard pe measure kiya jayega jo baaki sabko hota hai. Room mein sabse pehle hard baat kehne waala main hounge — aur sabse pehle hard baat sunne waala bhi. Jis din mujhe in values pe hold karna band ho jaaye — uss din mujhe yeh company chalana band kar dena chahiye.

refusing to quietly choose less.

I am also committing

I cannot ask you to be held to standards I don't hold myself to. So, I am naming mine.

I am accountable for the rise and the fall of Cars24. The wins are the team's. The misses are mine. Whatever happens, it is on me to figure it out, regardless of circumstances. What we tolerate becomes our culture, and I tolerated all of it. When we reset two years ago and didn't go far enough, I didn't go far enough either.

I will be measured on the same Builder standard as everyone else is. I will be the first person to say the hard thing in the room and the first person to be told it. The day I stop being held to these values is the day I should stop running this company.
