

Learning beats looking good.

A culture that rewards looking right will eventually be wrong about everything.

Tell us what you tried, what broke, what you saw, and what you would do differently. Not a tidy story that does not match the data. The version of you willing to be visibly wrong is the version that gets to be right later.

| Be interesting. Not impressive.

